11 CSR 30-3.020 Agencies and Persons Required to Furnish CHRI

PURPOSE: To establish who is required to furnish CHRI to MCRR.

(1) All police agencies, prosecuting and circuit attorneys, court clerks and the Department of Corrections and Human Resources shall furnish CHRI to MCRR without undue delay.

11 CSR 30-3.030 Police Agency Procedures for Furnishing Descriptions on Persons and Their Charges to MCRR and Prosecuting or Circuit Attorneys

PURPOSE: To establish a system for each police agency to follow when furnishing a description of a person and his/her charges to MCRR and to prosecuting or circuit attorneys.

(1) A police agency shall be responsible for completing a fingerprint/disposition form set supplied by MCRR on reportable offenses as instructed in the following regulations. The form set consists of a card having blocks to be filled in on both sides, and carbon copies having blocks to be filled in only on their front side. Normally the parts of the form set will not be separated until the front side has been filled in, including a complete set of fingerprints. In any event the officer or clerk making the entries on the front of the card shall verify that the same information is readable on the carbon copies. Listed below are procedures for police agencies to follow when taking a person into custody.

(A) Two (2) or more agencies/same offense - If peace officers from two (2) or more police agencies arrest a person for the same offense(s) the agency that will forward the information to the prosecutor or make application for warrant shall be responsible for completing the fingerprint/disposition form set and forward the disposition forms to the prosecuting or circuit attorney.

(B) Single agency/prosecution - When an arresting officer releases a person he has arrested to a receiving officer who routinely reports to the same prosecuting or circuit attorney, the arresting officer should complete the fingerprint/disposition form set and forward the disposition forms to the prosecuting or circuit attorney.

(C) Agency turned subject over to different jurisdiction - A police agency arresting a person, with or without a warrant, and will release the person to a police agency in a different prosecutory jurisdiction for prosecution shall be responsible for completing the fingerprint/disposition form and indicate in the final disposition block #19 as turned over to (TOT) or posted bond, name and address of police agency, date and warrant number if available. The disposition forms should be destroyed.

(D) Agency receiving subject from different jurisdiction - A police agency taking custody of a person arrested by an officer who routinely reports to a different prosecuting or circuit attorney will be responsible for completing a fingerprint/disposition form set and forwarding the disposition forms to the prosecuting or circuit attorney.

(E) Municipality/multiple counties - When peace officers arrest a person in reference to one of their cases, regardless of the county of prosecution, they are responsible for completing the fingerprint/disposition form set and forwarding the disposition forms to the prosecuting or circuit attorney. The agency who takes custody of the offender will not refingerprint the person.

1. Example: Kansas City Police officers arrest a person in Jackson County in reference to a Kansas City case in Clay County. Kansas City Police Department would be responsible for completing the fingerprint/disposition form set and then submitting the disposition form set to the prosecuting attorney of Clay County. When Clay County authorities take the offender into custody, no additional fingerprints should be taken.

(F) Probation violation subject printed on original charge - When a peace officer arrests an individual for a probation violation and the person has been fingerprinted on the original charge, no additional fingerprints will be required. The court has agreed to include the OCN number on the warrant. If it is unknown whether the person has been fingerprinted or if additional charges are listed in conjunction with the probation violation, the fingerprint/disposition form set is required and disposition forms should be forwarded to the prosecuting or circuit attorney.

(G) Arrest without warrant - If a peace officer makes an arrest in his jurisdiction without a warrant, he will fingerprint the individual and submit the forms to the prosecuting or circuit attorney for his action. If a warrant is issued for the person, the OCN number will be listed on the warrant. If the person is released pending issuance of the warrant he need not be fingerprinted when the arrest warrant is served unless additional charges are included.

(2) A police agency shall be ordered by the court to fingerprint and be responsible for completing a fingerprint/disposition form set on persons for which the court has pronounced sentence, if the court determines that the person has not been previously fingerprinted for the same case. The police agency shall forward the fingerprint card to MCRR and the disposition forms to the court of jurisdiction.

(3) The disposition form set should be forwarded to the appropriate personnel by the arresting officer under the following conditions:

(A) A peace officer reports a reportable offense to a prosecuting or circuit attorney; and

(B) When peace officers arrest a person in reference to one of their cases, regardless of the county of prosecution, the arresting officer should complete the fingerprint/disposition form set and submit the disposition form set to the prosecuting attorney or circuit attorney.

(4) The disposition form set shall be destroyed under the following conditions:

(A) Arrested subject released, information not referred to prosecuting attorney or circuit attorney; or

(B) If the person arrested is turned over to a peace officer or posted bond for prosecution in a different jurisdiction, with the exception of (3) (B).

(5) Each side of the fingerprint card is illustrated. Figure #1 represents the front side and Figure #2 represents the back side.

(4) Agency Audit

(A) By federal regulation every state is required to conduct biennial audits of randomly selected criminal justice agencies to assure that privacy and security regulations are being followed.

(B) To make this audit possible, agencies are required to retain appropriate records. Agencies will need to account for each dissemination in a log so that the audit can be performed. The log should contain the name of the subject on whom the record is disseminated, the name of the recipient of the information, the agency he represents, whether the agency is criminal justice or not, the purpose for which the information is to be used, address of the agency, date and time.

(C) Criminal justice agencies may choose a manual or automated dissemination logging system. Agencies which are not automated and rely on other systems, such as the central repository for automated dissemination logging, must log all secondary dissemination. Secondary dissemination is defined as "The dissemination of any CHRI response to another criminal justice agency or to an individual within another criminal justice agency or to anyone legally entitled to receive such information who is outside the original receiving agency." These logs shall be maintained for thirteen (13) months from the date of dissemination.

(D) The reporting of a criminal justice transaction to a state, local or federal repository is not a dissemination of information. Also agencies are not required to account for "no record" responses.

(5) Security of Criminal History Record Information

(A) Agencies providing security must be mindful of computer software and hardware, restriction of file access and safeguard policies regarding computer operation in the following areas: protection through proper storage; protection through computer programs; legitimate destruction of records; detection of unauthorized penetration of programs or files; protection of security and protection from destruction.

(B) Agencies must screen prospective employees who will have access to CHRI and be responsible for transferring or removing personnel in cases of violation.

(C) The agency must institute manual procedures for physical and data security, institute manual procedures to prevent file destruction and limit direct access to criminal history record information.

(D) Each employee working with or having access to criminal history record information shall be made familiar with the substance and intent of these regulations.

(6) Access and Review

(A) Any individual shall, upon satisfactory verification of his/her identity, be entitled to review without undue burden to either the criminal justice agency or the individual any CHRI maintained about himself/herself and obtain a copy thereof when necessary for challenge or review.

(B) Employees who process, access and review inquiries must be cautious when a person asks to see his/her CHRI. Positive identification is required. A drivers license with a photo may be sufficient; however, if identification is questionable fingerprints may be required.

(C) If a person has accessed and reviewed his/her CHRI and disagrees with the information, a challenge can follow. The challenge may be oral or written indicating that the record is inaccurate or incomplete and be accompanied by a corrected version.

(D) If it is determined that there is an error in the record the agency must make the necessary correction. At the individual's request the agency must give him/her the names of all non-criminal justice agencies to whom the data has been disseminated. Disseminations to criminal justice agencies will not be disclosed.

(E) The correcting agency shall notify all criminal justice recipients of the corrected information.

(F) The individual is not entitled to data contained in intelligence, investigatory or other related files and shall not be construed to include any other information than that defined as CHRI.

(G) When an error in a CHRI record has been detected and the correction has been made, the correcting agency shall forward corrected copies to the central repository including a copy for the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

(II) In the event an agreement cannot be reached between the individual and the agency being challenged, the individual may proceed with an administrative appeal to the Director of the Department of Public Safety, Truman Building, 8th Floor, Jefferson City, Missouri 65101.
