Tony Woodworth was last seen at a residence on North Elm Street in Charleston, Mo. on October 11, 2007. Mr. Woodworth was just released from house arrest prior to his sudden disappearance. His family says his lack of contact with them is highly unusual. Mr. Woodworth had a moustache the last time he was seen. He has a tattoo of the word "Mom" with a cross on his right arm. He has a burn scar on his left arm. Mr. Woodworth's family does not believe that he had any money or identification with him when he left. He did not have a cell phone and did not take a vehicle.
