The remains of a badly decomposed body were located on a sandbar in the Mississippi River. The victim was missing both arms from the shoulder down possibly due to the level of decomposition. He had an average build and was wearing green dress pants with a black leather belt, and brown socks. Under the green pants, the victim had on blue cut off shorts and a blue cloth belt, along with blue brief underpants. He may have had existing crowns pried off. Several of his right rib bones were fractured, and according to the medical examiner, it took place close to, if not, right at the time of death. A partial body X-Ray is available as well as a foot print and Dental records. If you have any information on this case, please contact the number listed below.
